Welcome new/returning member!

We strive to provide you with a great experience at Vagabond Players! As such, it's important for members to know about the club's expectations in terms of conduct. Vagabond Players has a zero-tolerance policy toward harassment or bullying.

Members are expected to:

- do their jobs in a positive, professional, and ethical manner when representing Vagabond Players;
- treat with respect all cast, crew, board members, volunteers, directors, and general public;
- perform volunteer duties to the best of their ability and attend necessary training sessions;
- fulfill commitments for rehearsals and work shifts;
- notify team leader in a timely way about delay or missing shifts or rehearsals.

In return, Vagabond Players will:

- provide an inclusive, nurturing, safe environment for community theatre experiences;
- act in a positive, professional and ethical manner when dealing with our members;
- provide written job descriptions;
- provide training for volunteer jobs including safety and emergency procedures;
- have clear procedures for open communication on any concerns.

The Vagabond Players Club Operating Policy, the full Bullying and Harassment Policy, the Bylaws, and the Jobs Outline Guide are available to members online and at the theatre in hard copy.
